When patients come to Integrative Medicine, they are often hurting. They are in the midst of a healing crisis that has sometimes lasted for years. Frustration, anger, fear: all of these emotions are part of the disease they bring.

We understand that healing is not always immediate. Sometimes achieving optimum health can take a lifetime. Yet, for those patients who come weary, tired of illness, looking for any shred of hope, the gift of a rapid step forward can mean the world.

This spring in Lexington KY, we offer you a chance to be part of one of the most exciting concepts in the field: Rapid Therapeutic Response!

From allergy alleviation to pain elimination, the hands-on therapies we will teach will offer something intangible yet invaluable and lifesaving to your patients: HOPE.
